

PHILOS 1520

Probability, Data, and Decision-Making

When was the last time you took a risk? It's far more recent than you think. We constantly undertake risks including deciding to drive to work and deciding to go bungee jumping. One of these is a risk we undertake without much hesitation while the other seems to require careful consideration. This course examines the rational processes by which we make decisions in the face of uncertainty.

with Professor Zoe Ashton

MWF 11:30am
to 12:25pm

Spring 2022