

PHILOS 2194:
GROUP STUDIES

The Philosophy of Happiness

with OSU students and incarcerated students

A survey of philosophical responses to questions about what happiness is and whether/how/why to pursue it in light of the prevalence of suffering in our world and our capacity for harm and vulnerability.

Class meets each week at an Ohio prison facility, a 45-minute drive from campus

Enrollment by instructor consent only.

Apply here

