Academic Advising for Philosophy

The Philosophy Department is a part of the College of the Arts and Sciences (ASC), which utilizes a dual advising structure. This means that you have at least two advisors at the University to help you with course selection and academic issues.

Currently, the Undergraduate Faculty Advisor for Philosophy, as well as the Undergraduate Honors Advisor for Philosophy, is Christa Johnson <johnson.4597@osu.edu>. Dr. Johnson can help you plan your path to a major or minor, choose an honors track, and answer questions about upcoming classes. You can e-mail her to set up an appointment.

ASC also assigns you an academic counselor, Margaret Downing <downing.226@osu.edu>. She will help you declare your major, advise you on the General Education Curriculum, special academic and career opportunities, graduation requirements, and Arts and Sciences policies and procedures. She may also make referrals to other professionals on campus. Margaret is available by appointment; to schedule, call 614-292-6961 option 3, or e-mail askascadvising@osu.edu.

Honors Philosophy Majors should contact Samantha Zimmerman <zimmerman.874@osu.edu> at the Arts and Sciences Honors Office in 100 Denney Hall, 164 Annie and John Glenn Ave. She can be reached at 614-292-5104.

Majoring in Philosophy

The major program is planned by the student with the faculty advisor in the Philosophy Department, Dr. Christa Johnson, while the major is officially declared with the academic advisor, Margaret Downing. All new majors should meet with both Dr. Johnson and Ms. Downing, and majors should check in with both advisors at least once a year (see previous page for contact information). Satisfactory completion of all courses on the major program is a requirement for graduation.

The philosophy major at Ohio State consists of a prerequisite and 30 credit hours, distributed as shown in this chart:

Requirements* (6 hrs)	History (6 hrs)	Topics (6 hrs)	Electives (15 hrs)
TWO courses	TWO courses	TWO courses	FIVE courses
1500, 1501, or 2500 ( prereq ) 3000	any TWO from:  3210    3250 3220    3260 3230    3261 3240	any TWO from:  3300.    3650 3420    3700 3440    3750 3530    3800 3600    3810	any ONE : 2000-level or higher  any TWO : 3000-level or higher  any TWO : 5000-level or higher

* These two requirements should be taken as early as possible in your major program

Notes:

- The Department requires that a minimum of 15 credit hours of the Major program be completed at Ohio State University.
- Philosophy 5010S may not count toward your 5000-level electives.
- Major program courses may not be used for GE purposes, with the following exceptions:
  - New GE: One GE Foundation course may be satisfied with the prerequisite to the major (Philosophy 1500, 1501, or 2500). Up to two Theme courses from different themes may be counted in both the GE and the major.
  - Legacy GE: The Global Studies Requirement may be counted in the major; the Quantitative and Logical Skills requirement may be satisfied with the prerequisite to the major (Philosophy 1500, 1501, or 2500).
- Students choosing to double major should consult with Margaret Downing to review ASC's requirements concerning overlap among major courses.
- Your individual path through the Major will depend on your own timeline and your other studies, and should be discussed with your Academic Advisor.

Courses listed in the above chart include:

PHIL 3210: History of Ancient Philosophy
 PHIL 3220: History of Medieval Philosophy
 PHIL 3230: History of 17th Century Philosophy
 PHIL 3240: History of 18th Century Philosophy
 PHIL 3250: History of 19th Century Philosophy
 PHIL 3260: Movements in 20th Century Philosophy
 PHIL 3261: Fundamental Concepts of Existentialism
 PHIL 3300: Moral Philosophy
 PHIL 3420: Philosophical Perspectives on Issues of Gender

PHIL 3440: Theorizing Race
 PHIL 3530: Philosophy of Logic
 PHIL 3600: Introduction to Philosophy of Language
 PHIL 3650: Philosophy of Science
 PHIL 3700: Introduction to Metaphysics
 PHIL 3750: Introduction to Theory of Knowledge
 PHIL 3800: Introduction to Philosophy of Mind
 PHIL 3810: Philosophy of Action

Minoring in Philosophy

A minor in philosophy comprises any four (or more) courses that satisfy the requirements shown in the chart below. Consultation concerning the minor should be sought at least one year prior to the student's projected date of graduation. Students seeking to plan a path to a minor should contact our Faculty Advisor, Dr. Christa Johnson. To officially declare a minor, students should contact the academic advisor for their major, or our academic advisor, Margaret Downing.

TWO courses (6 hrs)	ONE course (3 hrs)	ONE course (3 hrs)
2xxx or above	3xxx or above	33xx or above

Notes:

- Up to 6 Minor credit hours may count toward GE requirements.

Minor Focuses:

- Philosophy Minors may distribute their four courses among any combination of philosophical topics. However, for those excited about a particular area of philosophy, we offer “minor focuses” to help you chart your course.
- A minor focus is NOT required, but might be a nice complement to related majors. Some optional minor foci are described below.

Minor in Philosophy Focusing on Philosophy of Science

Are you interested in science? Many foundational questions about how science works are addressed in philosophy. Such questions include: Do the entities posited by our best scientific theories really exist? Must they, in order for those theories to be good theories? What constitutes an explanation in science? How are the various sciences—say physics and chemistry or biology—related to each other? Are there genuine revolutions in science? What values do and should guide scientific inquiry? Where does physics end and metaphysics begin?

Many specific sciences also present particular conceptual issues that need to and can be addressed in courses on philosophy of biology, philosophy of cognitive science, and philosophy of physics.

Relevant courses include:

Philosophy 2650:	Introduction to Philosophy of Science
Philosophy 2660:	Metaphysics, Religion, and Magic in the Scientific Revolution
Philosophy 2670	Science and Religion
Philosophy 2680	Scientific Controversies
Philosophy 2690	Genes and Society
Philosophy 3310:	Morality and the Mind
Philosophy 3650:	Philosophy of Science
Philosophy 3680:	Philosophy of Biology
Philosophy 3830:	Consciousness
Philosophy 5830:	Philosophy of Cognitive Science
Philosophy 5650:	Advanced Philosophy of Science

There are many combinations of courses possible and a minor can be tailored to your specific interests.

Minor in Philosophy Focusing on Legal Studies

Philosophical studies provide an extraordinary preparation for law school.

- Did you know that, on average, OSU philosophy majors score significantly higher on the LSAT test than those pursuing other majors at OSU?
- Did you know that OSU philosophy majors are more successful in gaining admission to a top-20 law school than those pursuing other majors at OSU?

But you don't have to major in philosophy to benefit from philosophical studies on your way to law school. The skills of interpretation, critical analysis, argumentation, and criticism that are honed in philosophy courses are invaluable for those pursuing a law degree. Several philosophy courses develop an understanding of issues in legal scholarship and in political philosophy that afford students an advantage when they address these or related issues in their studies in law school. And students are extremely well advised to take Philosophy 2500 (Symbolic Logic) prior to taking the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT); the techniques of elementary symbolic logic are extraordinarily valuable on the analytical and logical reasoning portions of the LSAT.

Here are some examples of ways to put together a set of courses that will satisfy your interest in the law and related issues, help to prepare you for your studies in law school and satisfy the requirements for a minor in Philosophy.

EXAMPLE 1:

Philosophy 2400 (Political and Social Philosophy)
Philosophy 2500 (Symbolic Logic)
Philosophy 3410 (Philosophical Issues in Law)
Philosophy 3300 (Moral Philosophy)

EXAMPLE 2:

Philosophy 2500 (Symbolic Logic)
Philosophy 3410 (Philosophical Issues in Law)
Philosophy 3300 (Moral Philosophy)
Philosophy 5410 (Advanced Philosophy of Law)

EXAMPLE 3:

Philosophy 2500 (Symbolic Logic)
Philosophy 3410 (Philosophical Issues in Law)
Philosophy 3810 (Philosophy of Action)
Philosophy 5410 (Advanced Philosophy of Law)

EXAMPLE 4:

Philosophy 2500 (Symbolic Logic)
Philosophy 3410 (Philosophical Issues in Law)
Philosophy 5300 (Advanced Moral Philosophy)
Philosophy 5410 (Advanced Philosophy of Law)

There are many other combinations of courses possible and a minor can be tailored to your specific interests.

Minor in Philosophy Focusing on Religion

Are you interested in religious studies? Philosophers have long pondered foundational questions concerning the nature of religion. Is it possible to prove that God exists, or that God does not exist? How can one believe God when so much evil exists in the world? Is religious faith compatible with reason? Is there tension between science and religion? Does morality require a religious foundation? Is there a natural explanation of the phenomenon of religion?

If these questions interest to you, you should consider a minor in philosophy with a focus on Religion.

Relevant courses include:

Philosophy 2660:	Metaphysics, Religion, and Magic in the Scientific Revolution
Philosophy 2670:	Science and Religion
Philosophy 2850:	Introduction to Philosophy of Religion
Philosophy 3111:	Introduction to Jewish Philosophy
Philosophy 3220:	History of Medieval Philosophy
Philosophy 3230:	History of 17 th Century Philosophy
Philosophy 3240:	History of 18 th Century Philosophy
Philosophy 3351:	Judaism and Ethics
Philosophy 5850:	Philosophy of Religion

There are many other combinations of courses possible and a minor can be tailored to your specific interests.

Minor in Philosophy Focusing on Language

We take our capacity to use language to communicate true and false things about the world for granted. We also take for granted that what we say stands in various logical relationships to other things that we say—as well as to what other people say. Our ability to make sense of each other as rational creatures and to engage successfully in the kinds of complex cooperative projects that we, as human beings, engage in seems to presuppose this. But what makes this all possible? How must we understand the nature of language, meaning, logic, the world, and, indeed, ourselves as language users in order to make sense of this possibility?

If these sorts of questions interest you, consider a minor in philosophy with a focus on the philosophy of language and logic.

A sample program that would constitute a philosophy minor would consist of the following four courses:

Philosophy 2500:	Symbolic Logic
Philosophy 3530:	Philosophy of Logic
Philosophy 3600:	Introduction to Philosophy of Language
Philosophy 5600:	Advanced Philosophy of Language

There are many other combinations of courses possible and a minor can be tailored to your specific interests.

$$\int 3x^2 dx = x^3 + C \quad e^{i\theta} = \cos\theta + i\sin\theta \quad \exists x \forall y Rxy \rightarrow \forall x \exists y Rxy$$

Minor in Philosophy Focusing on Mathematics and Logic

Are you interested in mathematics? Do you like logic? Philosophers have pursued logic, and related it to the foundations of reasoning. Philosophers have also pondered questions concerning the foundations of mathematics and its logic. Do mathematical objects exist, in the same sense as physical objects? How is mathematics known? What makes it so certain? Why is mathematics necessary to understand just about any aspect of the world?

Consider a minor in philosophy with a focus on mathematics and logic.

A sample program that would constitute a philosophy minor would consist of four of the following six courses:

Philosophy 2500:	Symbolic Logic
Philosophy 3530:	Philosophical Logic
Philosophy 5500:	Advanced Symbolic Logic
Philosophy 5510:	Non-classical logic
Philosophy 5520:	Probability and Inductive Logic
Philosophy 5530:	Philosophy of Logic and Mathematics
Philosophy 5550:	Advanced Logical Theory

There are many other combinations of courses possible and a minor can be tailored to your specific interests.

Minor in Philosophy Focusing on Mind, Brain, and Cognition

If you're a student in neuroscience, psychology, linguistics, or computer science, why not consider a minor in philosophy with a focus on mind, brain, and cognition?

The department of philosophy offers a range of courses that bring philosophy into contact with science in ways that contribute towards an understanding of the mind. Here are some of the relevant courses we offer:

- PHIL 3310: Morality and the Mind
- PHIL 3650: Philosophy of Science
- PHIL 3680: Philosophy of Biology
- PHIL 3800: Introduction to Philosophy of Mind
- PHIL 3810: Philosophy of Action
- PHIL 3820: Philosophy of Perception
- PHIL 3830: Consciousness
- PHIL 5840: Advanced Philosophy of Cognitive Science
- PHIL 5800: Advanced Philosophy of Mind

There are many combinations of courses possible, including courses not on this list, and a minor can be tailored to your specific interests.

Minor in Philosophy focusing on the history of western philosophical thought

Many contemporary philosophical problems and debates originate in the questions asked by thinkers of another era who were engaged with the pressing moral, mathematical and scientific issues of their time. When you study the history of philosophy, you go to the source and commune with Plato, Aristotle, Ibn Sina, Descartes, Princess Elizabeth, Hume, du Châtelet, Kant, Sartre and many other figures from the ancient, medieval, and modern periods. As you study the history of philosophy, you will consider questions about the nature of reality, the power of scientific reasoning, the justification for our beliefs, the existence of God, and the human struggle to live a moral and meaningful life.

The requirements for a minor are simple: at least 12 credit hours (i.e., four courses) in philosophy courses numbered 2000 or above. At least 3 of those hours must be in philosophy courses numbered 3000 or above, and at least 3 of those hours must be in philosophy courses numbered 3300 or above. Philosophy 2367 does not count towards your minor Program, although it may be used for GE purposes.

If you are particularly interested in the history of philosophy, you could choose some of your minor courses from these options:

2660	Metaphysics, Religion, and Magic in the Scientific Revolution	3250	History of 19th Century Philosophy
3210	History of Ancient Philosophy	3261	Fundamental Concepts of Existentialism
3220	History of Medieval Philosophy	5211	Plato
3230	History of 17th Century Philosophy	5212	Aristotle
3240	History of 18th Century Philosophy	5241	Kant

Minor in Philosophy
Focusing in Ethics and Moral Psychology

Questions about what goals are worth pursuing and what we owe to one another—that is, about ethics and morality—are among the central questions about how to live. In Philosophy, we explore different ways of answering these sorts of questions, while also asking about the psychological processes and mental states underlying moral thought and behavior. What is the nature of moral judgments? Are moral judgments subject to rational support and refutation? What accounts for moral disagreement—is it like disagreement over matters of science, or of religion? Or is it disagreement in attitude? What accounts for the moral intuitions that people share? Is this a product of enculturation? Or some sort of innate moral conscience that is part of human nature? Or is morality a matter of general learning, whereby people in different places discover the same moral truths?

The requirements for a minor are simple: at least 12 credit hours (i.e., four courses) in philosophy courses numbered 2000 or above. At least 3 of those hours must be in philosophy courses numbered 3000 or above, and at least 3 of those hours must be in philosophy courses numbered 3300 or above. Philosophy 2367 does not count towards your minor Program, although it may be used for GE purposes.

If you are particularly interested in ethics and moral psychology, you could choose some of your minor courses from these options:

2342	Environmental Ethics
2458	Animals and Philosophy
3300	Moral Philosophy
3310	Morality and the Mind
3341H	Ethical Conflicts in Health Care Research, Policy, & Practice
3351	Judaism and Ethics
3810	Philosophy of Action
5300	Advanced Moral Philosophy
5310	Metaethics

Honors Degree in Philosophy

In order to graduate with “Honors in the Arts and Sciences”, a philosophy major must be a member of the Arts and Sciences Honors Program, which includes completing a contract that spells out in detail the special course of study the student proposes to undertake for their degree, including GE requirements, major requirements, minor requirements, if any, and electives. The student will work out the contract in collaboration with the Undergraduate Honors Advisor in the Department of Philosophy (Dr. Christa Johnson) and with their Honors Advisor in the Arts and Sciences Honors office (Samantha Zimmerman).

The Arts and Sciences Honors Program requires a minimum GPA of 3.4 and a major that is substantially more challenging than a regular major in Philosophy. This degree builds upon the requirements for a regular major in Philosophy, which includes a minimum of 30 hours in Philosophy above the 2000 level (not including Philosophy 2500), of which six hours must be at or above the 5000 level (see page 5, above). In order to build a sufficiently more challenging major, an Honors student will typically take 12 hours at or above the 5000 level rather than just 6. The program will be designed with permission of and in consultation with the Honors Advisor in the Department of Philosophy.

Note that students who graduate with Honors in the Arts and Sciences can also graduate with research distinction in Philosophy. Undergraduate research is a desirable option for members of the Honors Program.

Research Distinction in Philosophy

In order to graduate with Research Distinction, a philosophy major must achieve a minimum GPA of 3.0 (or 3.4 for students who are also members of the Arts and Sciences Honors Program, described above) and a minimum GPA in Philosophy of 3.5. Further, in order to graduate with Research Distinction, a philosophy major must undertake a research project in consultation with a faculty project director, to be selected in consultation with the student’s faculty advisor. Students should begin to explore this option and consult with the Faculty Honors Advisor and possible project directors no later than three semesters prior to the expected graduation date. The student will, in consultation with the faculty project director, write a senior thesis and defend it in a one-hour oral examination. In order to work on their thesis, the student will enroll in at least 4 but not more than 9 senior thesis (4999 (H)) hours during their last few semesters of study, for the purpose of writing the thesis and preparing for the final thesis examination. Of these hours, none can be counted toward the student’s total requirements of 30 hours at or above the 2000 level, and none can be counted toward the student’s total requirement of 6 hours at or above the 5000 level.

An examination draft of the student’s thesis is to be completed and submitted to the committee members for review two weeks prior to the scheduled date of defense. The deadline for completing the defense is set each year by the College of Arts and Sciences. (Honors students should visit this page for detailed information about defense dates and procedures for applying to graduate with distinction; other students should visit this page). The examination draft, which is usually approximately 35-45 pages long, will be evaluated by a committee consisting of the student's director and two other committee members. The committee may require that the thesis be modified before a final draft is submitted. All committee members will participate in the student's one-hour oral examination, which will be devoted to a defense of the thesis. The student shall be considered to have satisfied the requirements for graduation with distinction in philosophy only if each of the three members of the examination committee finds both the senior thesis and the oral examination to be passing.

(Note that undergraduates can also undertake a research project in Philosophy by enrolling in 4998 or 4998H. These courses must be arranged with a faculty advisor and do not lead to graduation with research distinction in philosophy.)

The Bingham Award for Undergraduate Excellence

William E. Bingham was born in England in 1884.

He was compelled to terminate his formal education at the age of 14, and five years later he emigrated to Canada, where he assiduously prepared himself for enrollment in college. He studied philosophy at Ohio State University from 1914 to 1916 and upon graduation proceeded to Cornell University to pursue a graduate degree. However, in April 1917, with the threat of world war looming on the horizon, William Bingham enlisted in the United States Navy and a year later graduated from Annapolis as an ensign. In November of 1918 he married. Within a month after returning to duty he drowned when a boatload of sailors on patrol near Gibraltar capsized in heavy seas. His remains are located in the Arlington National Cemetery.

The post-war philosophy students here at Ohio State reacted to the untimely death of William Bingham first by producing a memorial issue of their yearbook, The Thinker, and then by deciding to create a memorial award to commemorate his bravery and memory. By commissioned by a famous French medalist and years this was offered as the award. In 1936 medal available for the recipient, and during the War the dies were lost.
